

В статье в общих чертах представлена картина соотношений между глагольными наклонениями и модальными словами и междометиями.

D. V. Gyulzatyán - The correlation of categories of modality and verb moods (a typological outline). The grammatical category is a lexical sign that incorporates contrary signs. The existence of grammatical categories in a language is generally due to the capability of its logical system. Any given grammatical category in a language presupposes the existence of its corresponding lexical and logical categories.

The article presents an outline of the correlation between the verb moods and attitudinal words.