

A close-up, vertical view of the fore-edge of a book. The left side shows the light-colored, textured pages, while the right side shows the dark, textured cover material. The binding is visible in the center crease.

