- Complete description of archive or publication material, according to which the translation has been made, should be comprised in the manuscript.
- A brief prologue under the title Publication Prologue may precede the publication (1-3 pages long, approximately 4000 characters). Long prologues are regarded articles and should be written under separate titles.
- If the publishing source contains references, they are presented as a part of a body text and are each numbered sequentially and precede the body text-source.
- Publisher or translator may present references about the publishing source at the end of a body text.
- Via the references one may present foreign word translations, explanations of abbreviations etc. contained in the text may be presented in the source text in square brackets.
- It is advisable to choose up to 40.000 character source for the publication materials in the periodical. In case of a large source, it is necessary to shorten (select) for preparing material for the periodical.

- Translations and archive sources should have enough comments and full introductions, otherwise they could not be considered scientific publications and could not be submitted for publication.

Essays of various symposiums and scientific events

- Information about the symposium organizers, place and time should be included in the essay.
- The symposium members' name, surname, workplace and city (in brackets) should be mentioned, and in case of international symposiums, the name of the city is also included.
- Essays should not coincide with the symposium projects or their final documents.

Reviews and bibliographical essays

- The length of a review should be from 5-10 pages (10.000-20.000 characters).
- Final information, name of a publication and number of pages of a studied book should be presented before the body text.
- References are not included in the review.

Argumentative notes, essays, records

Materials that are written in a free style and are free of demands placed on scientific articles are accepted for publication. Such kind of works cannot be submitted in the reports about scientific works as scientific publication.
