

A close-up, vertical view of the fore-edge of a book. The left side shows the light-colored, textured pages. The right side shows the dark, textured cover material. A narrow strip of the binding material is visible between the pages and the cover.

