

This image shows a vertical strip of a book's endpaper or binding. The main area is a light beige or cream color, showing some texture and slight discoloration. On the right side, there is a narrow, vertical border with a dark, patterned design, possibly a marbled paper or a decorative strip. The pattern in the border consists of dark, irregular shapes on a lighter background. The overall appearance is that of an old, well-preserved book.

