

A close-up, vertical view of the fore-edge of a book. The left side shows a thick, light brown, textured paper or cardboard cover. The right side shows a dark, textured binding material, possibly leather or cloth, with a vertical strip of marbled paper (black and gold pattern) visible between the cover and the binding.

