

[illegible]

A close-up photograph of the fore-edge of a book. The pages are aged and yellowed, showing significant wear and discoloration. The binding material, likely dark leather or cloth, is visible along the right edge.

A close-up, vertical view of the fore-edge of a book. The pages are aged, yellowish-brown, and show significant wear, including creases and discoloration. The binding material, likely dark brown leather or cloth, is visible along the right edge, featuring a decorative gold-tooled border.

